The Legislative Assembly of New Mexico Convenes.

THREE LEGISLATIVE BODIES

Republicans Swear Themselves In and Bolt the Regular Council Organization. Discord in the House Causes a Split.

By Southern Associated Press.

SANTA FE, N. M., January 1.—The Legislative Assembly of New Mexico convened yesterday. The Republican members held a meeting and swore one another in. Eight Democrats and four Republicans were recognized as members of the Council and sworn in by Secretary Miller, but the Republicans claim that seven Republicans out of twelve were elected on the face of the returns.

In the House, which consists of twenty-four members, the Secretary swore in twelve Democrats, and declined to swear in Christy, member-elect from Dona Ana and Grant counties, for the reason that under the territorial law Christy was not eligible, and that the House should judge upon his merits.

After organization Christy and fourteen Republicans, all claiming to be elected upon the face of the returns, then left the House and held a caucus, which resulted in the organization of a separate House of fifteen members. They called on the Secretary to be sworn in, but not finding him they administered the oath to each other and proceeded to organize the House by electing Christy Speaker.

The three bodies have adjourned till Wednesday. Measures of compromise are being talked of, and a satisfactory agreement may be reached.

Fee Cases Decided.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., January 1.—Arguments were concluded this morning in the investigation proceedings against Clark and Brown. Judge Lurton finished his opinion at 12:50 o'clock and exonerated them from all imputations of unprofessional conduct. He held there was not the slightest ground for the complaint and intimated strongly that the cause of unprofessionalism rests on J. H. Barr, of Barr & Meador, bond-holders, attorneys for drawing up the Bartol petition, fully knowing the facts of record. The fee charged for services was held to be just.

The right to contest their fees rested with the receiver, but was not attacked. This humiliation would have been avoided if Clark and Brown had fairly and distinctly stated their relation to James three claims in this correspondence with the trustees New York lawyers who employed them.

LANCASTER, Ky., Jan. 1.—This morning the Muller Hotel, a three-story brick, and three persons, E. A. Pasco, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Lesters, and his little child, aged three years, were burned. Only a few other guests were in the building and they escaped, being on the first floor. The fire started about 5 o'clock and had evidently been smoldering a long time, as the building was filled with smoke when discovered. The Pasco family were nearly all suffocated when aroused by the noise from the street. Mr. Yaso assisted his wife to a window, and then went down a ladder. He went back into the building after the child and his mother in law, but he succumbed to the smoke and flames and all three were burned.

Dr. Parkhurst Interviewed.

By Southern Associated Press.

NEW YORK, January 1.—The Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst was seen this morning in regard to the interview with Mr. Platt obtained yesterday at Wilkes-Barre, in which Mr. Platt is quoted as saying that he is inclined to think that Dr. Parkhurst's "head has become swollen," and thought that the Doctor should be turned down because he has tried to dictate to the Lexow committee. Dr. Parkhurst acknowledged he had read the interview, but would only remark: "I can really say nothing in regard to Mr. Platt."

"Not even when he attacks you and calls you head swollen and says you have attempted to dictate to the committee and should be turned down?" persisted the reporter.

"No, I have nothing to say."

SIoux City, Iowa, January 1.—Mrs. H. L. Barker, wife of the man arrested here Friday on the charge of defrauding the Ancient Order of United Workmen out of $2,000 at Portland, Ore., by pretending to have been drowned, was arrested in this city yesterday and $800 of the insurance money recovered. When she was arrested she made a confession of the affair, and the husband, upon hearing of it, also acknowledged her guilt and said that his sister is now at Susquehanna, Pa., trying to cash a policy she has on life in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for $3,000. He requested the officers to prevent its payment, so that he would not get deeper in trouble. He and his wife will be taken to Portland to stand trial.
